PLAGIARISM AND COPYING

In the event of plagiarism in the submission of assignments and other irregularities such as cheating during exams, it will be penalised in accordance with the regulations.

Plagiarism is “presenting another person’s work or ideas as your own, with or without their consent, by including them in your work without full acknowledgement. This applies to any material—printed, digital, unpublished, or generated by AI.” (University of Oxford, n.d.).

For further details on specific forms of plagiarism, such as verbatim copying, paraphrasing without citation, collusion, inaccurate referencing, and self-plagiarism, see the University of Oxford Academic Skills guidance: <https://www.ox.ac.uk/students/academic/guidance/skills/plagiarism>.

Please note that AI-generated content must not be cited as an author. In these cases, please cite the original sources the content is based on and not the AI tool. Otherwise, using AI texts without acknowledgement also counts as plagiarism.

En caso de plagio en la entrega de trabajos y otras irregularidades como copiar en los exámenes, se sancionará de acuerdo con la normativa.

El plagio consiste en “presentar el trabajo o las ideas de otra persona como propias, con o sin su consentimiento, al incluirlas en tu trabajo sin el debido reconocimiento. Esto se aplica a cualquier tipo de material—impreso, digital, inédito o generado por inteligencia artificial.” (University of Oxford, s.f.).

Para más información sobre formas específicas de plagio, como la copia literal, la paráfrasis sin cita, la colusión, la referencia inexacta y el autoplagio, consulta la guía sobre habilidades académicas de la Universidad de Oxford: <https://www.ox.ac.uk/students/academic/guidance/skills/plagiarism>.

Nota sobre el uso de IA: el contenido generado por inteligencia artificial no debe citarse como autor. En esos casos, deben citarse las fuentes originales en que se basa el contenido generado por IA, no la herramienta de IA en sí. En caso contrario, el uso de texto generado por IA sin reconocimiento adecuado también se considera plagio.
